Description	This software is a desktop application used to manage your iPhone. Through the program, you can import files from and to Apple devices. It can be use to convert files from .heic to .jpg or .png. Except that, it allows storing metadata in .exif standard, which provides information about analysis images–software characteristic simple and intuitive use.
Substantiation	I chose this software due to the necessity to convert images from .heic to .jpg, and I won't use online converters. This software induced my trust because of a few reasons. It's available on a professional website (not on no-name upload servers), has detailed specifications, support and is distributed on the paid version. After installation, I discovered more options (described in the next Reports).
